

2009 D2Football.com All-America Team

January 25, 2010 – For Immediate Release

Wayne State (MI) running back Joiqie Bell and North Alabama linebacker Mike Johnson highlight the 100 players named to the 2008 D2Football.com All-America Team.

A total of 53 schools had players selected to the team, with National Champion Northwest Missouri and National Runner-up Grand Valley leading with seven overall selections each. North Alabama and Grand Valley led the way with three first-team selections each.

Bell, the 2009 Harlon Hill winner, was named the Offensive Player of the Year. Johnson was named the Defensive Player of the Year. Mel Tjeerdsma, coach of National Champion Northwest Missouri, was named the Coach of the Year.

The D2Football.com All-America Team was selected by our staff with input from coaches and sports information directors from around the country.

D2Football.com has named an All-America Team since its inception in 2000.
